Objective

The primary objective of this meeting is to provide you with an overview of your participation in the Taskforce on Federal Consumer Financial Law's (Taskforce) September 15 meeting with three Advisory Committees (CAB, CBAC, CUAC).

Timing Considerations

The meeting is scheduled for September 15 from 2:30 P.M. to 4 P.M. EST. You should join the WebEx meeting at 2:15 P.M.

Background

The Taskforce is committed to collecting outside input from a variety of sources to help inform its two-volume report. Earlier Taskforce outreach efforts involved a meeting with consumer groups and trade associations on March 10, 2020, and a formally issued Request for Information (RFI) along with a Taskforce staff effort to collect publicly available views from stakeholders that might have had limited opportunity to address the RFI due to the pandemic. The Taskforce Chair met with the Conference of State Banking Supervisors on July 22. Meetings are expected throughout the remainder of the summer and fall with federal regulators and the National Association of Attorneys General. The next information gathering event for the Taskforce is its September meeting with three Bureau advisory committees (CAB, CBAC, CUAC.

The September 15 Advisory Committee meeting will be a public conference call discussion (open to the media). The meeting is a FACA covered Advisory Committee meeting. The Taskforce members will interact with Advisory Committee members. Taskforce members will pose questions to the Advisory Committee attendees in an effort to collect input to help inform the Taskforce report.

You are scheduled to participate in this meeting. Taskforce members, you, Matt Cameron, and staff support will access a greenroom at 2:15pm, and an operator will add us to the public room two minutes prior to the start of the event. Matt Cameron will call the meeting to order and outline the meeting agenda before turning it over to you to deliver five minutes of remarks. At the end of your remarks, you will turn the meeting over to the Taskforce Chair, Todd Zywicki.
